A Developed personality Dr. Banarsi Dass Soni, Ex.Capt.I.M.S. with a missionary zeal for medical education and patient care, conceived the idea of starting a Medical School for training doctors and providing much needed medical care to the people. This noble idea bloomed in the form of Arya Medical School in the year 1934. It was started in a rented building in the Civil Lines. Admission was limited to only 20 students in the beginning.

In 1936, the management was handed over to Arya Samaj, Saban Bazar, Ludhiana, under the aegis of Arya Pratinidhi Sabha, Punjab. A separate managing body nominated by the Managing Committee of Arya High School, Ludhiana, managed the Medical School. It was shifted to its own building (now Old Dayanand Hospital) in 1937.
