Since Dr. Richard Dickey founded the Fertility Institute of New Orleans in 1976 it has grown to include eight other physicians and a skilled staff of 40. We all care about our patients and are as delighted as they are with every pregnancy. Devoted to the care of infertile couples, the Fertility Institute was among the first such private fertility clinics in the United States. Dr. Dickey, a board certified physician in Reproductive Endocrinology, made the decision to leave his position as Chief of the Reproductive Medicine Section of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology of Louisiana State University's School of Medicine. Anticipating the increased problem of infertility in the "baby boomers", he wanted to provide a specialized place for diagnosis and treatment outside the realm of academic medicine. The Fertility Institute is a Charter Member of the IVF Registry and of the Society of Assisted Reproductive Technologies. Our laboratory is certified by the College of American Pathologists.
