KASSAY Field Services, Inc. (KASSAY) was founded in 1996 as a engineering company specializing in optical remote sensing for environmental applications. KASSAY's primary business involves maintenance & repair of FTIR spectrometers and applications of open-path fourier transform infrared (op-FTIR) for measurement of air pollutants. During the past seven years, KASSAY performed exciting programs for institutional, municipal, industrial, and governmental clients. Many projects were traditional, but some pushed boundaries to embrace new technology such as op-FTIR, op-UV, white cells, tracers, modeling and programming.
