As one of the largest teaching facilities in Pennsylvania, Lehigh Valley Hospital and Health Network (LVHHN) offers practicing professionals a vast array of services and expertise to meet the health care needs of their patients. LVHHN is represented by three clinical campuses -- two in Allentown and one in Bethlehem. Our Bethlehem site, Muhlenberg Hospital Center, joined LVHHN in August of 1997 when the two organizations merged. The network's professional staff of more than 1,100 physicians embraces innovation and understands the impact broad thinking can have on medical care. Working in over 50 specialties, LVHHN physicians, along with hundreds of skilled nurses and other professionals, help take research, diagnostics and patient-centered care in exciting new directions. The hospital is recognized as a leading regional source in its key clinical areas: cancer treatment, cardiovascular medicine, mental health, neurosciences, pediatrics, surgery services, trauma, women's health, perinatal care, kidney transplantation and burn treatment.
