Meda is one of Europe's leading specialty pharma companies. Meda covers all of Europe via its subsidiaries in more than 20 European countries; it has 900 employees in marketing and sales. In other world markets, agents and other pharma companies market and sell Meda's pharmaceuticals. Specialisation occurs within marketing and market-adapted product development. A key part of its product flow is also created through partnerships, in-licensing, and product acquisitions. Meda's pan-European marketing organisation and its capacity for product registration and development, make the company an attractive partner for pharmaceutical out-licensors.
