Rx Recruiters specializes in efficiently linking healthcare facilities and recruiters with pharmacy professionals nationwide. Our firm's primary focus is pharmacy and pharmacist recruitment. Rx Recruiters provides a small network of recruitment firms with access to a new and highly targeted group of outstanding pharmacists. We send out "fresh" resumes to our network of recruiters daily, and use advanced screening and filtering techniques to ensure that our pharmacy candidates are matched with the recruiters and healthcare facilities that best fit their needs. This insures a superior quality of life and job satisfaction with our placements, and provides our clients dramatically increased retention rates and employee efficiency. If you are a recruitment firm or an independent contractor, and your primary area of focus is pharmacy or the pharmaceutical industry, e-mail us for more information on our pharmacist resume split service. We work on a contingency basis with other recruiters and healthcare clients, so you will never pay a fee unless one of our candidates fulfills your needs. You will be pleasantly surprised with the quality of our pharmacy candidates. Rx Recruiters has also recently entered the healthcare marketing/consulting arena, a natural fit for us due to our unique pharmaceutical and new media background, combined with the attention gained by the success of our of websites. Our network consistently draws more website traffic and obtain higher search engine placements than the mega sites that spend millions of dollars on online branding and advertising. GPJ and Rx Recruiters both benefit from a highly efficient and unique marketing plan that allocates minimal resources to obtain maximum results. We are available for consultations on issues such as internet and healthcare recruiting strategies, efficient employee attraction and retention strategy, and well as concepts in new media advertising such as PPC (pay per click) marketing programs and training, website design, and online branding. Send an email to: tprice @ rxrecruiters.com for more information. We can manage your entire internet healthcare advertising or recruitment strategy, whether you are a small business, an independent contractor, or a multi-million dollar conglomerate
