Sopheon began in 1993 as Netherlands-based PolyDoc. Building on unique competencies in linguistics and language management, the company created software applications that allowed organizations to capture, organize and access knowledge through structured authoring tools, terminology management and thesauri. Use of this technology was focused on specific processes such as hospital protocol management and the sharing of quality standards. In November of 1999, PolyDoc added to its knowledge harvesting and content dissemination competencies by acquiring AppliedNet, a leading UK supplier of knowledge management solutions and products with particular skills in search and portal technologies. Besides extending the intellectual property of the group, this acquisition added strength in implementation services and significantly expanded PolyDoc's market presence in the UK. Coincidental with its acquisition of AppliedNet, PolyDoc changed its name to Sopheon.
