Benefits

Stylus Metrics PDA data collection software (from RTU History Collection to Patient Information, billing and time tracking) is designed by Industry Business Experts from the Healthcare (more than 35 years) to the Petrochemical and Measurement (more than 10 years) and Software Engineering (more than 30 years). Stylus Metrics delivers software that is installed around the world.

Generic Data Collection software allows accurate mobile data collection for various industries. Specific versions provide industry-specific solutions - for example, the GMDC (Gas Measurement Data Collector) provides gas measurement collection with naive volume calculations. GMDC is cost effective for both hardware and software (a low-end PDA is typically priced from $195 versus a Laptop that is typically priced at $2000.00 to $3000.00). GMDC has the ability to synchronize directly to user databases without additional software required on the desktop. A web interface provides remote data management.
