New Product for Cleaning Ostomy Pouches Offers a Great Solution to an Old Problem

Monday 19th of October 2009 8:25

VALRICO, Fla., Oct. 19 /PRNewswire/ -- For many ostomy patients, the most difficult aspect of their condition is the cleaning of their ostomy pouches. Performing this messy task every day - sometimes multiple times per day - can be disheartening and cumbersome.

Ostyclean was created for patients who are seeking an easier, more efficient method of cleaning their ostomy pouches. Its revolutionary design is like no other pouch cleaning system on the market. "We hope you'll consider recommending Ostyclean to ostomates as a way to preserve their dignity and improve their quality of life," states Ostyclean LLC CEO Mark McBride.

Why Recommend Ostyclean?

The innovative pouch cleaning system offers ostomates numerous life-changing benefits:

Unrivaled Hygiene: Ostyclean is specially engineered for easy sanitizing with standard household cleansers, eliminating the spread of dangerous germs. Its ergonomic design allows the user to maintain a safe distance from the pouch during the cleaning process, neatly flushing out all waste.

Quick, Easy Cleanings: Efficiency is the hallmark of the Ostyclean system. Its powerful spray jets clean every inch of the pouch in just seconds, preventing the need for long, drawn-out bathroom visits. The system is easy to manipulate and designed to prevent embarrassing messes.

Longevity of Equipment: Many ostomates are living on fixed or limited budgets, making it even more of a struggle when insurance companies fail to cover ostomy supplies. When adequate replacement pouches are not provided, patients are forced to purchase them with out-of-pocket funds. Thanks to Ostyclean's durable pouch life extension, members will not have to buy replacement pouches as often.

For patients who have undergone a colostomy, ileostomy, or other ostomy surgery, it's most important to focus on recovery and well-being - without having to worry about manually cleaning their ostomy pouches. With Ostyclean, all of the tools for easy sanitation are at their disposal, promoting comfort and peace of mind.
